

HOPPER'S STOCK SHOOT UPWARD

Speedy Sprinter Surprised Old Cyclists and Patrons Last Night.

WORKED BOTH HEAD & FEET

That is One Reason Why He Outdistanced His Rivals, Young and Old, At Saucer Track Meet.

Before one of the largest crowds of the season young Hopper did some riding at the saucer last night that will make him the center of attraction for some time to come, whenever he appears on the track. In two hard fought events he passed all competitors, in one by superior head work, and in the other by superior endurance and speed. The most interest was centered in the Australian pursuit race which gave Hopper and Hoffman, the speediest rivals on the track, a great opportunity to fight it out. Hopper proved himself to be the better man last night. Strangely enough the first man to go down was Samuelson, the heretofore acknowledged champion of unpaired running. But Chapman, his enemy, ran past him at the start before he realized that Chappie was coming, up on him. Hopper won in two miles and four laps. The other race in which Hopper came out first was the five mile race. He stayed back and let the bunch give him a reign ride until next to the last lap, when he jumped out comparatively fresh and won in a walk. The five mile tandem, amateur was an exciting race and was won by Dowling and Limberg. The one mile amateur was taken by Limberg who probably has appeared as an amateur for the last time.

SUMMARY.
One mile tandem, amateur—D. Dowling and C. Limberg won, Agaz and Shaffer second, Stowers and Elwood third. Time—1:02.5. Final, Limberg won, Dowling second, Agaz third, Redman fourth, Starbuck fifth. Time—1:02.5.
Five mile race, professional—Hopper won, one lap, Dowling second, three laps; Samuelson third, seven laps; Chapman fourth, seven laps; Burris, eight laps; Straver, seven laps; Leyland, three laps. Time—10:35.1.
One mile open, amateur—First heat, Limberg won, Dowling second, Agaz third. Time—1:02.5. Second heat, Redman won, Starbuck second, Shaffer third. Time—1:02.5. Final, Limberg won, Dowling second, Agaz third, Redman fourth, Starbuck fifth. Time—1:02.5.
Australian pursuit race, professional—Hopper won, Hoffman second, Dowling third, Turville fourth, Chapman fifth. Time—5:46. Two miles and four laps.

Smith Breaks Record.
A. W. Smith, the local bowler, broke the state record last evening in a match game with Blood. His score was 73, the former record being 72 made by J. Hamilton last spring. Smith made nine straight strikes, a spare and a strike.

WANTED, A PITCHER; YES, A PITCHER

Locals Had One for a While, but He Didn't Last Long Enough.

RESULT: DEFEAT ONCE MORE

Brilliant Playing and an Apparently "Sure Thing" Followed by Disaster That Need Not Have Been.

The Senators walked arrogantly over the necks of the locals at Walker's field yesterday. They had been in the rear up to the fifth inning, and they said, "When we get a chance to swing them we'll swing them good." Well they got the chance and carried out their promise. It was most disappointing to see Salt Lake, after entering the game so strong and running up 4 to 1 in four innings, acquire glass eyes all at once, and end the game with a score of 6 to 1 against them. At the start they just walked Wiggs frightfully, but that eloquent philosopher maintained a serene smile on his elongated face and said nothing. In the fifth inning the Senators downed very nicely when their right arm seems to have contracted word fever and from then on there was nothing to it but sky scraping flies and safe hits that more than compensated Wiggs for his discomfiture earlier in the game.

Notwithstanding the apparent "dopy" manner in which the score was changed, there were many clever plays made to the joy of the spectators. Yesterday being the last day, there was a liberal sprinkling of the gentler ones in the grandstand. They watched the game very closely and they all thought "Salt" Davis was "perfectly lovely."

The local one in sore need of a pitcher who is the real goods. Maybe Lundbaum is all right when he gets started, but the Senators are one run better than him than they did from Tover the day before. He will have another chance this afternoon and if he makes good all will be forgiven. The game starts at 3:30 and from present indications the contest will be hard fought. The summary:

"INSIDE" FINANCES OF SALT LAKE BASEBALL; CLUB CAN MAKE MONEY OR MAY LOSE HEAVILY

"Won't you take the public into your confidence through the Desert News, and let it know something of the inside finances of a baseball club?"

This was the question propounded to one of the officials of the local baseball organizations during yesterday's game. The official in question, after scratching his head a moment, obtained a pledge that his name should be kept secret, and then asked the newspaper man to "fire away" with his questions.

"The uninitiated are puzzled to know how a team like the present Salt Lakers (now Portland) can be kept going and its salaries paid in view of all the uncertainties that surround the question of gate receipts. Who guarantees the bills? Who foots the losses if there are any, and pockets the profits if they should come in?"

"Well," was the response, "you are right in saying that it is an uncertain business. Take a live, up to date, sporting town like Seattle, and the owners of a local club have a fortune. In fact, the Seattle owners cleared up an enormous sum last year. Take a slow town, where the game is played out, and where the public is indifferent, as in Portland, and as it is getting to be in Helena, and you can find nothing in which the money melts away faster than in trying to run a local club. Take our Salt Lake organization for instance. The team consists of 12 men and the manager, 14 who draw salaries. The average salary is $150 per month. The highest man on the list being Parrott, whose batting record justifies him in demanding $225. Incidentally, I might say I think he is cheap at that figure. Fourteen men with an average of $150 a month means a monthly outlay of $2,100, when the team is at home. When it is on the road, of course, the expense is much higher. Figuring it the season round, it would be safe to say that the expenses of the teams average $100 a day, and that sum, $2,500 or $2,600 a month, has got to be ready for the players by the owners of the franchise, whether there is rain or shine, whether the game goes on before jammed houses or empty bleachers."

"Then," said the newspaper man, "receipts such as you are getting in Salt Lake would pay expenses and leave a handsome margin for the owners?"

"Yes," said the official, "if the present receipts could be relied on, but of course you never know when you are going to run up against a storm. Our first six days here will probably yield gross receipts of $2,000. Deduct 10 per cent, the sum which goes to the Pacific league from all games, and we have $2,550 left, to be divided equally between the Helena management and ours. This leaves $1,275 for our share, with six days' expenses to pay. Figure it at $100 per day, and you can see that we are very substantially to the good, but of course we shall have no such week again, because the opening day of the new league season was the banner one, but if we can rely on an attendance of two or three hundred people a day and get the present prices, 50c and 75c, we can 'wiggle through.'"

"Does not the local club receive the grand stand bonus, as in other cities?"

"Oh, yes, I forgot to mention that. Our share for the week will be augmented by the 50c per head charged for the grand stand. On a big day this might be $100 or $150; on a light day it might only be $15 or $20, but it all helps to bear the extra expenses which the local club is put to, such as the rent of the grounds, the advertising, etc."

"Who pays the umpires?"

"The umpires are hired by the season by the league and they are paid a salary and their expenses, for attending the various games. They go to whatever cities they are sent."

With the above facts as a figuring basis, the public can estimate for itself whether or not the stock in the Salt Lake baseball organization is a desirable investment. It is understood that some complications as yet stand in the way of the local club's complete ownership of the Salt Lake team, but these complications, whatever they are, are expected to be smoothed out early next week. The club will, of course, be strengthened materially when this is done, and it looks as though a satisfactory run of receipts could be relied on that would pay expenses and a very good dividend besides. If the team is braced up, it should draw even better when it goes away from home, as there is a big advertisement in the name of "Salt Lakers" alone, and with a strong team to back it, it is expected that the nine will prove a heavy draw wherever it plays in the northwest or on the coast. But of course, all depends on strengthening the "lineup." If it is evident that the Salt Lake nine is to be the tail-end in the league procession, all the advertising in the world would not bring paying crowds to see it play.

DANNY MAHER IS HURT.

American Jockey Thrown From Auto—Skull is Fractured.

London, July 10.—"Danny" Maher, the American jockey, had a serious motor accident today. He was thrown out of an automobile, fractured the base of his skull and sustained other injuries. A London specialist has been summoned and will attend.

Maher had been riding at the Lingfield races and was returning home in Lord Carnarvon's automobile, which had been loaned him, when the accident occurred. Maher himself was driving, and the chauffeur was sitting beside him. They were going at a hot pace when the steering gear failed to act and the car dashed into a motor occupied by a lady and gentleman, which was going in the opposite direction. Maher and the chauffeur were both hurled from their automobile, and when picked up they were unconscious. Both were removed to Catterham hospital, where they still remain. The latest reports from the hospital authorities characterize their situation as "very grave." The occupants of the other car were only slightly hurt.

DOWN WENT HERRERA.

An Unknown Farmer Boy Did the Business With a Single Blow.

Herrera, "the coming champ," ran up against an unknown from the altavista districts last night. O Tempora, O Mores. The unknown gave the Mexican prize fighter a swat under the chin and the pug went to the mat with the rush and grace of a camel suffering from sun stroke. The affair was not a put up job like unto a certain function that was recently the star attraction down at the ball park, it was entirely unpremeditated and for once Herrera got up against the real article. This morning the Mexican warrior was hurrying with anxiety to tell just how it happened.

It appears, however, that the pug had not yet left the Salt Lake and had returned uptown on the last car accompanied by the usual retinue of hangers-on, hol-poi, and other admirers of the lightweight and his prowess. The noble aggregation adjourned to the White House bar and proceeded to dally with the amber fluid. At the end of the bar was a quiet looking fellow who was just about as easy as Mr. Jack Downey, "the man who fit Tommy White."

The Herrera referee did not seek an introduction and company simply butted in. The stranger did not like their looks or style, or the color of Herrera's complexion. He did not say so at first, because he was but a simple son from the country and was not hunting trouble. His tormentors, however, became demonstrative and then the stranger delivered himself of a brief oration.

His remarks were an unqualified success and ere the applause which followed had died away he walked out into the street. Herrera and his bunch of sycophants romped out after the departing guest and undertook to give the frail anatomy in twain and cast it to the four winds. Before operation was well under way, however, the stranger had the audacity to hit the Mexican before he was ready. The scope of the encounter was the center of the street and the pug made a slide for life with the stranger's mitt as the motive power. The lad caught the pug a very hot city as the jaw and throat, in a few object lessons in astronomy, shooting stars and comets by way of good measure.

Before a crowd could get at the countryman he walked away. If they catch him today, however, the consequences will be awful to contemplate. As the young unknown has not yet applied for police protection it is believed that he has left the city hurriedly. But that he is able to take care of himself against the speed and science of Herrera alone was clearly demonstrated last night.

Mr. Clark has been a victim of skin disease for forty years—today he is a well man—read his story.

"I have been troubled with a terrible skin disease as far back as I can remember—fully forty years maybe longer. I had great sores come on my legs and arms, they itched terribly, the skin would get dry and scale off causing me much pain, inconvenience and distress. It looked to be incurable until I went to Drs. Shores about three months ago. These doctors knew what the trouble was and I began their treatment. I began to notice improvement in ten days or two weeks—and since then have been steadily improved until today there is no sign of my trouble, and my skin has been clear for nearly a month now. Since then she has improved every day and we could see the treatment gradually curing her, and now we find all her old troubles are gone, no more deafness, no more Catarrh, no more dizziness—she eats well sleeps soundly and to all intents and purposes is absolutely well and cured."
